Her Responsibilities.

It is a woman's privilege to change her mind, is a time-old saying. All privileges carry great responsibilities. If she has power to change her mind, she has absolute control over her thoughts. And if they be impure, or mean, or shallow, or false, or ungenerous, she alone is to blame.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

The Kinds of Lies.

A Chicago university professor, after exhaustive research, has discovered there are ten different kinds of lies. Under his classification there are the fantasy or fairy tale lie, the veinglorious or boasting lie, the defensive lie, the heroic lie, the white or permissible lie, the society lie, the business lie, the art lie, and the adulterative lie.

Lame back is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles of the back, for which you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

Smaller Joys Most Lasting.

Little joys refresh us constantly, like household, and never bring disgust; and great ones, like sugar-bread, briefly often bring great satiety.—Richter.

The Woman Who Acts Naturally. Women who are not anxious about the effect they produce, women who act naturally, have a wonderful advantage over the self-conscious—those who are either vain or their beauty or dissatisfied on account of their lack of it. All this takes away from their natural charm, their understanding, their sympathy. Many people expend so much sympathy on themselves that they have none to spare for any one else.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. For sale by all dealers.

Legume Crops and the Nitrogen Supply.

There can be no doubt that the greatest deficiency of Kentucky soils is nitrogen. Says George Roberts, of the Kentucky Experiment station. A deficiency of one element of plant food limits crop production, although all the other elements may be present in abundance. Hence the greatest single factor in restoring our soils to fertility is increasing the nitrogen supply. No one, not even the fertilizer manufacturer, now contends that nitrogen can be profitably bought in commercial fertilizers in quantities required by crops. There is only one source from which nitrogen may be economically obtained in sufficient quantities, and that is from the air by the growing of the leguminous crops (clovers, cow peas, etc.). Enough legumes must be grown in the rotation to supply nitrogen in the soil for the crops that cannot obtain it from the air, (such as corn, wheat, etc.), and to replace that which is being lost in the drainage waters. The nitrogen supply cannot be kept by merely growing legumes in the rotation and harvesting them and not returning the manure in good condition. Two thirds of the nitrogen of the manure is excreted in the urine. This is generally lost. As manure is generally handled by throwing it out in piles, two thirds of the nitrogen of the solid manure is easily lost by heating and leaching it from four to six months. Ordinarily not more than one third to one sixth of the nitrogen in the feed consumed is returned to the soil in the manure.

In order to keep up the nitrogen supply there must be an abundance of legumes in the rotation, and all manure produced must be carefully saved and returned to the soil. The most practical way to handle the manure is to use sufficient bedding to absorb the urine, and then spread the manure as fast as made. It is generally spread on the sod to be turned for corn, but it may be spread on meadows a year before breaking for corn. When it is impossible to remove the manure it is safe to allow it to accumulate in the stalls. In case it must be piled outside the stalls, it should be closely compact to exclude the air, and protected from rains, either by capping with straw or by shelter.

It may be necessary now and then to turn under a legume crop in order to keep up the nitrogen supply. The following rotation is used on the Experiment Station Farm: First year, corn with cow peas sown at last cultivation. When the corn is removed the peas are disked in and the ground sown to rye for a cover crop. Second year, the cover crop is turned under, followed by cow peas or soy beans. When these are removed the ground is disked and sown to wheat for the third year crop. If the clover fails, as it often does, the ground is broken as soon as the wheat is removed, and thoroughly seeded for clover, which is seeded about August 20th, along with a little timothy. It gives a good crop of hay the next year and avoids breaking up the regular rotation. We believe that it pays to seed the clover after the wheat is removed, although it takes a little extra labor, as the stand is much surer than when seeding with the wheat in the spring. The manure produced is put on the clover sod.

On many soils legume crops cannot be successfully grown until lime or limestone has been supplied to correct sourness. Also many Kentucky soils are too deficient in phosphoric acid to produce large crops of legumes. This statement applies to nearly all our soils outside the Blue Grass region.

Cure for Pneumonia.

Take six large onions, chop them fine and put in a pan over the fire; then add the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar, enough to make a thick paste. Stir thoroughly and let simmer for about ten minutes. Then put in a large cotton bag and apply to the chest as hot as can be borne. In ten minutes apply another. By re-heating the poultices, continue for a few hours. The patient will be much improved. Three or four applications are sufficient.

Eating Fish In Lent Aided Navy.

The connection between fish eating during Lent and a strong navy may appear remote, but to Elizabethan statesmen it seemed vital. So much so that a law was passed commanding everyone to eat fish on every day of Lent. The reasons set forth for this enactment made no mention of religious observance. It stated the queen needed ships for defense and the fishing industry furnished men at all times in readiness for her majesty's service.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Paris People Know How to Save It.

Many Paris people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers.

The following statement leaves no ground for doubt: John W. Myers, blacksmith, E. Main St., Carlisle, Ky., says: "We are hardly ever without Doan's Kidney Pills in the family, as they are a fine kidney medicine. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. The kidney secretions also contained a sediment and my back ached. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I used them, and since then I have had no further trouble."
